

e-StatePortal™

property management made easy

Packed full of easy-to-use functionality for hassle-free and affordable property management, eStatePortal is an online property management system that connects estates of all shapes and sizes to the 21st century.

eStatePortal provides managing agents, corporate bodies and other home owners associations with the tools to manage developments more effectively from a central database at a fraction of the cost. Based on a deep understanding of the business processes involved in the management of residential estates, eStatePortal is a communication tool, a billing engine and a payment facility for any estate, all rolled into one easy-to-use system.

This intuitive web-based management system was developed by ATEC Systems and Technologies with the latest Web 2.0 technology. This makes it customisable, flexible and scalable enough to manage estates of all sizes, from large gated communities of 500 residents and more to small developments of 50 residents or less. eStatePortal is packed full of easy-to-use functionality for hassle-free and affordable property management.

all you need is a computer with internet connection

Communication: Enhance communication with owners and residents through bulk SMSs and a continually updated website featuring news, opinion polls, FAQs and discussion forums.

Documents: Store and search for estate documentation in an online repository.

Estate: Set-up estate related services, roles and rights.

Helpdesk: Log queries through a support ticket management system which then routes them to the responsible board members or service providers.

Lifestyle: Book estate facilities, hire videos, access online gaming, education and homework content.

My Accounts: Subscribe to estate-specific services, both compulsory and optional.

Security: Either log or search for security-related occurrences using the Online Intelligence analysis suite.

Service Providers: Save even more time by accrediting the estate's service providers electronically.

Shopping: Provide products, services and payment facilities via a localised online shopping system.

eStatePortal is powered by ATEC: technology partner of choice for properties of distinction.
